

three haiku

by glue

a stone in my shoe
let it bite with each step, or stop and take it out?

bright shores never swum jungles untouched, mountains bare behind silicate

endless labyrinth
crumbling walls and overgrowth let me sleep a while